

WE learn from authentic sources that over two hundred and fifty thousand dollars' worth of real estate changed hands in this town during the last summer; a very large proportion of this was purchased by gentlemen from abroad who spend their summers here, and upon much of this land they intend to erect summer dwellings. A number of new houses are now being built, and several more will soon be commenced, and completed for occupation by next summer. Our population, in one sense of the word, or, at least, during a portion of the year, is thus slowly increasing, while property is rapidly rising in value, and the permanent wealth of the place becoming greatly enlarged. We do not think that any particular immediate benefit will be derived from all this, except to a few, such as our mechanics, &c., who are employed to build these houses; we are glad, however, even of this. But we look forward, in a few years, to something better. We are quite sure that all these gentlemen who are building here, will, in a short time, become so much attached to the place, that many of them will be induced to settle permanently among us. They are all men of wealth, and many of them have retired from business; in a few years their sons will be old enough to commence business, and their fathers will naturally prefer to have them start under their own immediate supervision, and, having abundant means to think that they will make the effort to resuscitate Newport, by starting their sons in extensive business here. If this is done, we have some enterprising men among our own native citizens, who will assist in the matter, and in this way we confidently look forward to the building up of Newport, and her firm establishment upon a solid and prosperous mercantile and commercial basis.

One of the first steps to be taken, for the prosperity and increase of business in Newport, is the construction of the Railroad to Fall River; that will accomplish more than any other project which we can conceive of, and in regard to the feasibility of that, in all respects, we never have entertained a doubt, and we are as confident of it, at this moment, as we are that any event will ever occur. We have written upon this subject repeatedly, and have endeavored to arouse our citizens to what we feel sure is for their welfare; and although little or nothing has as yet been accomplished, still, we do not despair, because we know that where so much activity pervades a community, it is impossible to arouse a spirit of energy and perseverance, without long drilling and constant agitation. The great difficulty is in starting, and if a successful move can once be made, then all will be well. The chief labor will be in the onset, because, when once started, every thing will progress as a matter of course, and all kinds of business will be introduced and kept constantly on the increase. Every one will be imbued with a spirit of ambitious energy, and this is the grand motive-power which builds up a place. If the people of Newport will take hold of the Railroad business this winter, with a determination that the road shall be built, and subscribe for as much of the stock as possible, even in small sums, there will be no difficulty in obtaining all the money needed in New York and Boston, because they would see that Newporters had confidence in the project by contributing their means towards it. But if we remain inactive ourselves, and ask the capitalists of other places to build the road, they at once very naturally question its practicability, and will have nothing to do with it. The people of Newport are to derive the chief benefit from this road, if it is ever built, and we cannot expect comparatively disinterested people to do all for us when they are to reap far less advantage from the operation. We are satisfied that all the people of Newport, or, certainly, a very large proportion of them, see this matter in its true light, and they only want some energetic and determined man to make a proper beginning, and then good progress will be made. We have some such men in the community, and way will they not commence the noble work at once.

June & Co's famous Circus will be in Newport on Monday and Tuesday.

The Concert of Catharine Hayes, in Providence, on Wednesday evening, was attended by a crowded audience, and she gave the greatest satisfaction; as evidence of this, we have only to state that she was encored in every piece, all of which she repeated, with a single exception. Her orchestra consisted of the celebrated Germania Musical Society, whose performances were also greatly admired and applauded. Miss Hayes sings again in Providence next Wednesday evening. This will afford our citizens an excellent opportunity to go to Providence and hear her. The arrangements, under the direction of Mr. Wardwell, are of the best order, and plainly show his admirable qualifications for his responsible duties.

The remains of the late Capt. Isaac Burdick were brought to this town, yesterday afternoon, in the steamer Perry, and buried.

Mr. Elias Livermore has become editor of the Fall River News; he has formerly been connected with different papers in New England.

FOREIGN LAUGH AT AMERICAN FASHIONABLE NEWS.—Our American reports of arrivals and belle-ships at Newport and Saratoga, are the subjects of fun abroad, and, of this, a correspondent of the Herald says:—

"I see that Galignani, of the 4th, copies from the London Times a long article respecting the United States, concluding with an extract from a communication to the Newport News, of the 16th ultimo, complimentary to the ladies at that celebrated place, copied by the Herald. The Times and Galignani should be the last to affect ridicule of such publications. They can devote whole columns to barren catalogues of names of persons who attended this 'Drawing Room' or that 'Reception,' with details of dress and attractions most painfully and tediously minute; and they are punctiliously careful to inform 'all the world and the rest of mankind' that the gallant Sir Harry So-and-So is about to lead to the hymeneal altar the elegant and accomplished Lady Betty Nonesuch, with all the whys and wherefores of the momentous event; while a peer of the realm can't step from one street to another without some chronicle of the achievement. But these are people who sport titles—dukes, earls, barons, lords, and counts—with their wives and daughters, and that makes a wide difference."

ORPHANS' ASYLUM BURNED.—The telegraph reports that yesterday morning fire broke out in the Orphan's Asylum at Cincinnati, which destroyed the building. The building contained one hundred and six boys, many of whom saved themselves by jumping out of the windows. Three bodies were found in the ruins. Many of those saved were badly burned, or otherwise injured.

ARRESTS AT SYRACUSE.—The telegraph reports the arrests at Syracuse, yesterday, of Ira H. Cobb, J. Moses, editor of the Standard, Stephen Porter, A. Dutcher, Amos Davis, all white, and a colored man named Brown, and about fourteen others, for aiding in the rescue of Jerry, on the 1st of October. They were taken to Auburn for examination, and held to bail in $2000 each. We hope that thus the majesty of the law will be vindicated, and all men be taught that resistance to its authority cannot be made with impunity.

THE DEAF AND DUMB.—Among the passengers by the Independence, recently arrived, is Dr. Alexander Turnbull, of London, whose recently discovered process for the cure of deafness and blindness, has attracted much attention in England. Concerning it the London Times says:—

A number of scientific gentlemen assembled yesterday at the house of Dr. Turnbull, in Russell Square, to witness the results produced by a process recently discovered by the doctor, and applied for the cure of deafness and blindness.

Between twenty and thirty patients attended, many of whom, it was stated by their parents, had been born deaf and dumb. They were submitted to various tests, by which it was proved that the deafness had been cured by the application of Dr. Turnbull's remedies; and what appears most singular is, that whether the disease depended on paralysis of the auditory nerve, rupture of the tympanum, or obstruction of the internal passages, relief had been immediately obtained, or complete cure effected without delay, pain, or inconvenience. Several patients, who were presented that they had been completely blind, said that they could now see perfectly well.

Another number of the Times says:—We agree with the Messrs. Chambers that Dr. Turnbull has, by patience and ingenuity, obtained a grasp of certain new medicaments and methods, calculated to cure cases of deafness, such as were never cured before.

Countess Sherardi, an Italian lady of the Tuscan court, notorious for having, at a public ball at Florence, snatched a feather from the hat of the Austrian General Radetzky, and placed it in her bonnet, was recently driven from the Carlo Felice Theatre at Genoa, and returned home under the escort of the police.

Mr. Pratt, for shooting Wm. Root, in Pawtucket, has been arrested on a charge of manslaughter.

NEW METHOD OF SETTING GLASS.—Mr. Sewall Short, of this city, has taken out letters patent for a new method of constructing windows, and other glass, and setting the glass without putty. We have seen a small model, which demonstrates to our mind, as little as we know of such matters, that the invention is a valuable one, and must, as soon as it becomes known and understood, be generally adopted. Heretofore, when a pane of glass became broken by accident, or otherwise, a glazier had to be summoned instantly, who, in removing the hard putty which held the glass to the sash, not unfrequently injured the properties of the sash, materially, besides annoying the occupants of the house, and otherwise being attended with much inconvenience. By this new arrangement of sash, however, any person, either lady or gentleman, can remove a broken pane of glass from the sash, and replace it by a whole one, by simply turning a small screw inside the sash, and, of course, inside of the house. The screw when unloosed, detaches the bars of the sash, which holds the glass against small strips of prepared India rubber. The sash may be constructed with a view to ornament, as well outside as inside, by this new arrangement, as it is subject to no chiseling by the master of the putty knife, should it remain a permanent fixture for fifty years. Show windows, show cases, &c., will now be attended with no more inconvenience and trouble than it made entirely of wood or metal, as, when a pane of glass is broken, the smallest boy can replace it by a whole one. In like manner the windows and roofing for hot houses can be arranged in a very beautiful and ornamental manner. But among all the variety of sash to which this new method is adapted, perhaps none will be more benefited by its application, than the metallic sash, used in the construction of Light House lanterns. We hear it said, by those who are competent to judge, that, for this latter purpose, it is, and must be, invaluable. The keeper of the Light can, at any time, remove a broken pane, and replace it by a perfect one, in a minute; should the same get broken from any external cause, such as by a sea-fowl, which is of frequent occurrence on every sea coast, in the night. Or, should he wish to paint the sash, he can remove all the glass in a few minutes, and then wield his paint brush, ad libitum, over the sash, without getting any paint upon the glass, which is, and always has been, a serious difficulty with the old fashioned sash. But we need not say more in elucidation of this invention.—New London Star.

We have carefully examined the above sash, and cheerfully endorse all that the Star says in regard to it. We learn that it will probably be introduced into the new Light House at Sandy Point. An agent will be in town, in a few days, with some of the sashes, and our citizens will then have an opportunity to examine them; we are quite confident that they must at once come into general use.

AGITATING SCENE IN CHURCH.—Our correspondent at Hanover, N. H., informs us that last Sabbath, (Oct. 12th) at the morning service at the College Church at Dartmouth College, as the clergyman had proceeded a little way in his sermon, the front door was suddenly opened, and a person in night clothes entered and walked rapidly up the broad aisle some distance, when he was arrested and carried out. His ghastly countenance and delirious look at once revealed the truth; that Thomas B. Mack, of the Senior Class, from Gilmanton, sick of typhoid fever, had escaped from his sick chamber in the momentary absence of his attendants, and was on his way to his accustomed seat in the church. The agitation of the audience may easily be conceived. Order, however, was restored, and the services were finished in the usual course. The young man died on Monday night at 11 o'clock, having been sick but five days. He was the son of Andrew Mack, Esq., of Gilmanton, N. H., and was a young man of piety and promise.—Boston Traveller.

CURIOUS CASE.—A verdict of $10,000 was lately given to a young lady in Henry county, Ky., in an action of slander against her faithless lover. The Louisville Courier, of the 8th, says, that in soon as the verdict was rendered, the fair Kentucky plaintiff, scornful to receive the money of the defendant—her only object being the vindication of her name from his calumnious aspersions—directed her counsel to enter a remittitur for the amount of the verdict, save what would be sufficient to compensate them for their services. Upon consultation they consented to be satisfied with five hundred dollars, and in accordance with the instructions of their client, released the defendant from the payment of the nine thousand five hundred dollars.

DEATH OF JAMES BUCHANAN.—We have to record to day the death of our old and esteemed friend, James Buchanan, Esq., for many years the British consul in this city. Mr. Buchanan some years ago, when he retired from the office he filled so many years, removed to Clifton, (Niagara Falls) where he had a most delightful residence, and where he received his old friends with great hospitality. At the time of his death he was on a visit to his daughter in the vicinity of Montreal, where he died, suddenly, on Saturday last, aged 51 years.—Cra. Adv.

EXTRAORDINARY SUICIDE IN PARIS.—There have never been remarked so many sudden deaths and suicides in Paris and the suburbs as within the last few days. The following is one of the most extraordinary cases of suicide:—
"The body of a young man was discovered floating in the Seine, near St. Cloud, on Friday last. The corpse appeared to have remained some days in the water. The deceased appeared to have been about 35 years of age, and to have belonged to the wealthier class of society. His features were handsome, his hair brown and his beard long and black. His linen was of the finest quality, and his other clothing made in the latest fashion. A small glass bottle, corked and sealed, was suspended from his neck, in which was a paper, containing the following words in writing: 'I am about to die!—young, it is true! and if my body is discovered, a complaint may perhaps be made. This I do not wish—An angel appeared to me in a dream, who said to me, 'I am the Genius of France—Royal blood circulates in your veins; but before you occupy the sovereign power, which justice are disputing in France, you must go to see the Eternal Sovereign of all things—God!—die. Let the waters of the Seine swallow your body. Fear not, you shall revive when the hour of your triumph shall have struck! I have spoken!' and the angel disappeared. I have accomplished his desire—But I leave this writing in case the celestial envoy has deceived me—I pray the Attorney General to prosecute him, THE PERMANENT KING OF FRANCE!"

The body has not been claimed and the police authorities have instituted an inquiry to discover his family.—Foreign Paper.

Capt. John W. Bennett, of Boston, has made an improvement in the construction of lamps for lighthouses, by which one-third of the quantity of oil now used will produce a more brilliant light than the whole quantity usually consumed. This improvement has been successfully tried on board of the lightship in Boston bay, and Mr. Bennett has gone to Washington to exhibit the light.
